

Dave and Barbara Miller
Regional Coordinators to Latin America

Missions Focus

- Discipling the nations of Latin America in cooperation with local Church of God assemblies,
- Equipping Latin Americans for bi-vocational ministry and tent-making missions.
- Providing pastoral care and professional guidance to Church of God missionaries and their families in the region.

The Millers first went to South America with the Missionary Board of the Church of God in 1980. After a year of language study in Costa Rica, they moved on to Bolivia, where they stayed and ministered for the next twenty-one years, during which time the Bolivian church expanded at a steady pace from 82 to more than 230 local congregations.

Barbara spent her early years in the Belgian Congo and Zimbabwe as the daughter of United Methodist missionaries. Of her call to missions, she says, “From an early age, I felt the call to be involved in cross-cultural ministry. This was confirmed in 1974 when I attended the Urbana Missions Conference at the University of Illinois.”

Dave’s call to missions came during his first semester at Asbury Theological Seminary in Kentucky. A speaker had shared that 94 percent of trained Christian workers serve in North America, which represents only 7 percent of the world’s population. He was disturbed by the facts and felt that “somebody ought to do something about it.” God heard him, and Dave heard His voice saying, “Okay, you’re somebody, Dave. What are you going to do about it?”

Dave’s family first began attending the Church of God in Akron, Indiana, when he was 7 years old, but it was while attending camp meeting in Anderson that he accepted Jesus Christ at the age of 16.

Birthdays

David: May 6

Barbara: January 6

Anniversary February 2, 1980

Project # 42.10067

Dave and Barbara Miller
Regional Coordinators to Latin America

Missions Focus

- Discipling the nations of Latin America in cooperation with local Church of God assemblies,
- Equipping Latin Americans for bi-vocational ministry and tent-making missions.
- Providing pastoral care and professional guidance to Church of God missionaries and their families in the region.

The Millers first went to South America with the Missionary Board of the Church of God in 1980. After a year of language study in Costa Rica, they moved on to Bolivia, where they stayed and ministered for the next twenty-one years, during which time the Bolivian church expanded at a steady pace from 82 to more than 230 local congregations.

Barbara spent her early years in the Belgian Congo and Zimbabwe as the daughter of United Methodist missionaries. Of her call to missions, she says, “From an early age, I felt the call to be involved in cross-cultural ministry. This was confirmed in 1974 when I attended the Urbana Missions Conference at the University of Illinois.”

Dave’s call to missions came during his first semester at Asbury Theological Seminary in Kentucky. A speaker had shared that 94 percent of trained Christian workers serve in North America, which represents only 7 percent of the world’s population. He was disturbed by the facts and felt that “somebody ought to do something about it.” God heard him, and Dave heard His voice saying, “Okay, you’re somebody, Dave. What are you going to do about it?”

Dave’s family first began attending the Church of God in Akron, Indiana, when he was 7 years old, but it was while attending camp meeting in Anderson that he accepted Jesus Christ at the age of 16.

Birthdays

David: May 6

Barbara: January 6

Anniversary February 2, 1980

Project # 42.10067